Estates and trusts may enter summary totals from brokerage statements or other summary statements when there are numerous transactions to report. Summaries or groups of transactions as reported on brokerage statements or summaries of the sales of stocks, bonds and other financial instruments sold on the major financial exchanges on separately prepared statements may be used in lieu of entering each sale, exchange or disposition of property on PA Schedule D. All other transactions must be entered separately on PA Schedule D.

If a brokerage or summary statement is used, a copy of the statement must be provided with the return. Electronically filed returns will not permit entry of an unlimited number of transactions. Brokerage or summary statements of transactions will be required to be included as a PDF attachment with the return or faxed in to the department.

Taxable Distributions from C Corporations

Taxable Distributions from a C Corporation
An estate or trust that is a shareholder in a C corporation must report as taxable gain the excess of the fair market value of a distribution (other than a dividend) in excess of current or accumulated earnings and profits over the adjusted basis of its stock when the adjusted basis of the stock is zero.

When a distribution, that is not a dividend, is received in excess of the current or accumulated earnings and profits, it decreases the basis of the stock or shares, but not below zero, by any distribution that is not taxable as a dividend on Line 2 of PA-41, Fiduciary Income Tax Return.

Once a distribution reduces the basis of the stock to zero, the excess distributions are taxable as gains from the disposition of property and reported on Schedule D, Line 4.

Example B. B Corp distributes from its capital account $100,000 to the estate of John Doe, the only stockholder. The estate’s adjusted basis in the stock is $75,000.

The distribution is not from the regular corporation’s earnings and profits, so it is not a taxable dividend.

The estate must reduce its basis from $75,000 to zero, then report $100,000 on the "Enter total distribution" line, and $75,000 on the "Minus adjusted basis" line.

The estate reports the remaining $25,000 as a gain on its PA-41 Schedule D.
