Dear <Licensee's Name>:

The Department of Revenue has informed the Department of State that you may be delinquent with your tax obligations to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by missing one or more returns, payments or account updates overdue. In addition to your statutory requirements to pay state income taxes, Pennsylvania relies on taxpayer support for continued operations.

It is essential that all licensed professionals stay current on their tax obligations.

In order to resolve your tax issues, please contact the Department of Revenue within 20 days at:

Pennsylvania Department of Revenue
Bureau of Compliance
4th and Walnut Street
Harrisburg, PA 17128
Phone Number (717) 787-3911 Option 5

When contacting the Department of Revenue, please inform them that you have received this notification because you are a licensed professional.

Do not contact the Department of State regarding this matter. Instead, all tax related issues can only be resolved by contacting the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue using the information provided above.

This is an ongoing tax compliance program; hence, by resolving all current tax issues with the Department of Revenue, staying in compliance with your future tax obligations, there will be no need for the Department of State to contact you about such matters again.

The Department of State appreciates your assistance in addressing this important matter.

Sincerely
