BUDGET MAKES HISTORIC INVESTMENTS IN EDUCATION AND TO FIGHT THE OPIOID CRISIS

In early July, Governor Wolf announced the General Appropriations bill passed by the House and Senate would become law. The budget is a significant step forward for Pennsylvania schools and provides critical funding to fight the opioid crisis.

“This budget makes historic investments in education that will bring us closer to restoring the cuts of the past and invests vital money to fight the opioid crisis that has struck Pennsylvania,” said Governor Tom Wolf.

The governor has made investment in our schools and our children his top priority. The budget will help ensure student success, and improve access to a high-quality education — regardless of a child’s zip code.

“As has been said by Republicans and Democrats alike, this is a budget Pennsylvania can be proud of, and it puts us back on a path to fiscal responsibility and a sustainable future,” said Wolf.

The budget also provides critical services for seniors and the most vulnerable—many of whom rely on these programs as a last resort. Finally, it looks out for the bottom line—only increasing spending where absolutely necessary.

Highlights of the 2016-17 budget include:

Investment in Education

- This budget provides an additional $200 million for basic education, as well as a $30 million increase for early childhood education, preserving the number of slots for proven early childhood education programs like Pre-K Counts and Head Start.

- Funding for special education will increase by $20 million, and the budget provides a more than $10 million increase for early intervention, and a nearly $40 million increase for higher education.

- The new fair funding formula will be used to distribute the additional education funding. The governor signed the formula into law in June. Previously, Pennsylvania was one of only three states without such a formula, creating massive inequities among school districts and hitting the most vulnerable students the hardest.

- In his first two years the governor has secured historic increases in education including: $415 million in basic education; $60 million for early childhood education; $50 million in special education; $10.4 million for early intervention; $81.4 million for state-owned and state-related universities and $16.4 for community colleges.

Fighting the Opioid Crisis

In recent months, Governor Wolf traveled the commonwealth to hear from people on the front lines of the opioid crisis. Everywhere he went, people said that Pennsylvania must expand treatment for people suffering from addiction.

- The budget provides $15 million to establish new treatment centers and improve treatment options. This will allow the Department of Human Services to draw down $5.4 million in federal funding for an overall total of $20.4 million.

- The Department of Human Services will fund 20 Opioid Use Disorder (OUD) Centers of Excellence to treat approximately 4,500 people without access to treatment today. Additional centers funded by Medicaid will be announced in August.

- The fight against the opioid crisis is not finished. In 2015, more than 3,300 Pennsylvanians died from a drug overdose. Heroin and opioid overdose are the leading cause of accidental death in Pennsylvania, killing more people annually than motor vehicle accidents.

PENNSYLVANIA’S MEDICAL MARIJUANA PROGRAM WILL INCLUDE TAX

The Medical Marijuana Program, signed into law on April 17, 2016 provides for the purchase and use of medical marijuana by patients with serious medical conditions. The law imposes an excise tax of 5 percent on the gross receipts received from the sale of medical marijuana by the grower/producer to the dispensary, to be paid by the grower/processor.

The Department of Health is in the process of implementing the program which is expected to take between 18 and 24 months.

Before the Department of Health issues permits, the Department of Revenue will provide information regarding the Medical Marijuana Act, including, tax returns with filing instructions, payment methods and frequently asked questions.

For more information about the Medical Marijuana Program, visit the Department of Health online at www.health.pa.gov.
HISTORIC LIQUOR REFORM EXPANDS DIRECT WINE SHIPMENTS WITH NEW EXCISE TAX

On June 8, 2016, Governor Wolf signed a historic liquor reform bill that will enhance the customer experience by providing greater convenience and satisfaction. Starting August 6, 2016, winemakers nationwide will be allowed to ship directly to Pennsylvania consumers.

“This is truly a historic day for Pennsylvania and the most significant step the commonwealth has taken to reform our liquor system in 80 years,” said Governor Tom Wolf.

Additionally, the bill:

- Removes Sunday restrictions and state-mandated holidays;
- Enhances customer loyalty programs and opens up coupons at state stores;
- Provides options for flexible pricing to allow state stores to offer special discounts and sales;
- Allows restaurants and hotels to sell up to four bottles of wine for take-out;
- Allows grocery stores that currently sell beer to sell up to four bottles of wine; and
- Makes permanent gas stations’ ability to sell 6 packs.

New Wine Excise Tax

Regarding direct-to-customer wine shipments, wineries can sell a maximum of 36 cases of wine per year – up to nine liters per case – to customers at least age 21. A new wine excise tax of $2.50 per gallon will be imposed on the shipments, as well as the existing state and local sales tax.

Wine Producer applicants must obtain a Pennsylvania Sales and Use tax license prior to applying with the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board as a Direct Wine Shipper, and are required to remit state and local sales tax, along with wine excise tax, to the Department of Revenue.

In the coming months the Department of Revenue will be providing additional information regarding wine excise tax, including, tax returns with filing instructions, payment methods and frequently asked questions.

AIRBNB WILL COLLECT AND REMIT THE HOTEL OCCUPANCY TAX FOR PENNSYLVANIA HOSTS

Governor Tom Wolf and Revenue Secretary Eileen McNulty recently announced that Airbnb, a major online home-sharing company, has agreed to begin collecting and remitting the state’s 6 percent hotel occupancy tax on behalf of hosts in Pennsylvania starting July 1, 2016.

“This is a win-win for hosts and the commonwealth,” said Governor Tom Wolf. “The agreement with Airbnb places Pennsylvania at the forefront of states responding to the sharing economy and will help to level the playing field across the lodging industry.”

The state’s hotel occupancy tax applies when renting a property – including a house, room or apartment – to provide lodging to a guest for periods of less than 30 consecutive days. There is no separate state sales tax.

The state hotel occupancy tax is 6 percent, except in Philadelphia and Allegheny County where the rate is 7 percent, which Airbnb will collect.

The department’s agreement with Airbnb is for state hotel occupancy tax only. Additional local hotel tax is collected by county treasurers where it applies. Contact the county treasurer for local hotel tax rates.

“I thank Airbnb for working with us to help thousands of hosts across the state to be compliant with the law,” said Revenue Secretary Eileen McNulty. “This agreement will generate nearly $1 million in new revenue for the commonwealth to help fund vital state services.”
Reporting Requirements for Hosts Using Airbnb and Other Third Party Brokers

While Airbnb began collecting and remitting the Pennsylvania hotel occupancy tax on July 1, 2016, hosts using the company prior to that date or using other third-party brokers at any time are already responsible for registering with the department and collecting and remitting the tax.

Hosts should report income from home-sharing rentals with their Personal Income Tax Return, using Schedule C, Profit or Loss from Business or Profession.

To collect the hotel occupancy tax, hosts must first register with the Department of Revenue for a Sales, Use and Hotel Occupancy Tax License by completing and submitting Form PA-100. The form is online at www.pa100.state.pa.us.

After registering and obtaining a license and account number, property owners must create a separate account with e-TIDES, the department’s easy-to-use online system for filing business tax returns and making payments, including the hotel occupancy tax.

As a convenience to hosts who exclusively use Airbnb and are tax compliant, the department will cancel their Sales, Use and Hotel Occupancy Tax License. The department is contacting those hosts with instructions if they want to keep the account.

Collection of Unremitted Hotel Occupancy Tax Liabilities

The department is helping hosts who are unaware of their responsibility to collect the state hotel occupancy tax. In recent months the department sent more than 2,500 letters to hosts using home-sharing sites with instructions to complete a questionnaire to determine if the hotel occupancy tax applies. Hosts have the opportunity to remit past-due tax and interest without penalty.

For information about registering for a Sales, Use and Hotel Occupancy Tax License or using the Online PA-100 portal, please call the department at 717-787-1064. For questions about using e-TIDES, call 717-783-6277. Forms and other information are available at www.revenue.pa.gov.

E-TIDES ENHANCED WITH NEW ELECTRONIC STATEMENT OF ACCOUNT

In response to requests from many businesses and tax practitioners, the Department of Revenue is proud to launch a new Document Center in e-TIDES, the department’s business tax system.

The first new feature in the Document Center is an electronic Statement of Account (e-SOA).

Previously only a hardcopy of the statement could be requested which the department printed and mailed. Now business taxpayers and tax practitioners can request an e-SOA through e-TIDES and receive a more detailed version by PDF the next business day in the Document Center.

The e-SOA is also enhanced with a summary at the top and detail at the end.

- The summary includes the three most recently filed tax periods, periods with a balance, and periods where no tax return was filed, grouped by tax type. Additional sections show items such as tax periods under appeal, unused restricted credits, and W2 annual reconciliation, if applicable.
- The detail area shows the transactional information for the tax periods in the summary area.

For more information and step-by-step instructions, visit the department online at www.revenue.pa.gov, select e-TIDES and Get Assistance.
REVISED BOND REQUIREMENTS AND PAYMENT METHODS FOR MOTOR FUEL TAXES

The Department of Revenue recently instituted two initiatives for motor fuels taxpayers.

The first initiative addresses taxpayers’ concerns about the rising costs of bonds and other financial guarantees. Registered fuel distributors have the option to reduce their bond amount requirement from 1.5 months to one month of tax collections. Taxpayers who have remained in compliance with all reporting and payment requirements for the last two years can immediately take advantage of the one month bonding requirement. This option is available even if the distributor has already submitted their bond or other financial guarantees as part of their 2016 permit renewal process.

The second initiative will increase efficiency and accuracy by requiring Pennsylvania Motor Fuels Tax Reports (and all applicable schedules) to be filed electronically. Electronic report filing will begin with the September 2016 report, which is due October 20, 2016. Filing electronically is the fastest and most cost-effective way for registered distributors to complete reporting and for the department to process tax reports.

Thousands of businesses file returns and remit payments each week using the department’s easy-to-use online e-TIDES platform. To learn how to register and use e-TIDES, as well as to get a list of tax software that is compatible with the system, please visit www.revenue.pa.gov and select e-TIDES.

Any registered distributor that does not file as required by the department is subject to a ten percent penalty on the tax due. The department may also suspend or revoke the registered distributor’s Liquid Fuels and Fuels Permit.

The department may waive the penalties described above if it is determined that the filing requirement constitutes undue hardship on the registered distributor. A registered distributor claiming such hardship and requesting a waiver must submit a request in writing every calendar year. The waiver is sought to explain why the filing method causes hardship. For 2016 only, waiver requests for tax periods subject to this requirement must be received by the department on or before September 1, 2016. Subsequent waiver requests must be received by November 1 of the calendar year proceeding the calendar year for which the waiver is sought.

For additional information on these new initiatives, visit www.revenue.pa.gov or contact the Bureau of Motor and Alternative Fuel Taxes directly at 1-800-482-4382.

TAX PROFESSIONAL E-SERVICES CENTER
Tax professionals are encouraged to use the department’s Tax Professional e-Services Center for easy access to clients’ tax information.

Visit the department’s Online Customer Service Center or call 717-787-1392.
34TH ANNUAL FALL TAX SEMINAR

The department intends to offer additional options. Updates will be provided at www.revenue.pa.gov.
